whisky

Japan is the world's third largest producer of whisky behind the Scots and the Americans – yes, they beat the Irish. Whisky production in Japan began around 1870, but the first commercial production was in 1924 upon the opening of the country's first distillery, Yamazaki. Broadly speaking, the style of Japanese whisky is more similar to that of Scotch whisky than Irish, American, or Canadian styles of whiskey, and thus the spelling typically follows the Scottish convention (omitting the letter "e"). The diversity and innovation to be found in Japanese distilleries may be one of the contributing factors to their recent high profile and acclaim in the global arena. Japanese consumption of whisky also has unique characteristics. Drinkers' often drink their whisky with food and mixed with hot (oyuwari) or cold water (mizuwari)

Hibiki 'Harmony'	Chita (grain), Hakushu (malt) & Yamazaki (malt) Distillery Japan, ABV43% Hibiki meaning "Resonance" in Japanese, this whisky has a nose of rose and lychee with a smooth palate of honey, candied orange peel and white chocolate. Subtle, tender, a hint of Mizunara oak. Elegant yet poised 57.0
Hibiki	21 yr, Chita(grain), Hakushu (malt) & Yamazaki (malt) Distillery Japan, ABV43% Hibiki, a harmonious blend of handcrafted specially aged whiskies, ageing in various types of casks, including Mizunara, a rare Japanese oak, all combine to create a full orchestra of flavours and aromas. A nose of blackberry and caramel, is followed by a palate of honeycomb and dried apricot 95.0
Nikka 'From the Barrel'	Miyagikyo & Yoichi distilleries Japan, ABV 51.4% A very powerful vatted whisky which is produced mixing single malts together. In this case, Nikka have used different ages of single malt from both Miyagikyo & Yoichi. Cut flowers, fresh fruits, spice and a little oak 20.0
Laphroaig	10 yr, Laphroaig Distillery, Islay Scotland, Single Malt, ABV 40% Laphroaig, pronounced "La-froyg", is a Gaelic word meaning "the beautiful hollow by the broad bay". An all-malt Scotch Whisky from Islay, really smoky & iodine rich. One of Scotland's most characterful drams 13.0
Glenfiddich	12yr, Glenfiddich Distillery, Speyside Scotland, Single Malt, ABV 40% Multi-award winning whisky from Speyside with light floral nose. Matured in Oloroso sherry and bourbon casks. Very well balanced 12.0

Ardbeg	10 yr, Ardbeg Distillery, Islay Scotland, Single malt, ABV 46% An Islay classic for any fan of single malt. A ridge of vanilla, a mountain of peat capped with citrus fruits & circled in sea salted caramel 14.0
Belgrove Barrel Aged Rye	Kempton Tasmania, Single Barrel, ABV 57% Australia's first rye distillery, and one of the world's only true farmhouse distilleries where everything is grown and produced on site, leaving a carbon negative footprint. This particular whisky is only available at cellar door, and was hand bottled and labelled from a single Burgundy barrel specifically for Wasabi - Liquid Gold! 25.0
Kirin Fuji Sanroku	18yr, Fuji Gotemba Japan, Single Malt, ABV 43% Almost unknown outside of Japan, Fuji Sanroku which means 'at the top of Mount Fuji' is matured in ex-bourbon barrels. The distillery is producing majority grain whisky and a very small quantity of malt whisky, making Fuji Sanroku rare, as it is the only single malt bottled. Rich and complex fruit with woody aromas and an elegant, silky finish. This is a whisky to be savoured 60.0
The Hakushu	12 yr, Hakushu Suntory Distillery Japan, Single Malt, ABV 43% Hakushu's distillery, was built in 1973 and is set amidst spectacular pine forests close to Japanese Alps & draws its waters from Kai-Komogatake. Aroma of pears, crushed leafy bracken with a hint of citrus. You can enjoy subtle smokiness & sweet poached pears on the palate 19.0
Starward	New World Whisky Distillery Melbourne, Single Malt, ABV 43% A well-rounded aroma of ripe orchard fruits and a rich toast caramel palate lends itself to a long finish. Banana, raisins and dried figs make Starward whisky as approachable as it is unique 12.0
White Oak 'Akashi'	White Oak Distillery Japan, Single Malt, ABV 46% White Oak's whisky stills are only in operation for one month every year and so their production quantity is minuscule. Akashi spent 5 years on New American Oak and is then finished in Oloroso Sherry barrels. Excellent balance; intense and medium dry vanilla malt and delicate spicy fruit cake flavours gain ground at the finish 15.0

Nikka - 'The art of making whisky must always follow the art of nature'

In 1918, Masataka Taketsuru, son of a sake brewing family, is recruited to travel to Scotland in search of discovering the secrets of whisky production with a goal; produce the first authentic Japanese whisky. By 1922 he joined forces with Suntory, for whom he built the first Japanese distillery in 1924. By 1952 Taketsuru had founded his own Nikka Whisky distillery. Let us take you on a journey through time, history and art by tasting three different Whisky blends from Yoichi distillery in Hokkaido and Miyagiko distillery in Miyagi

The Nikka Flight and guest book 65.0

Pure Malt Red
Nose: Rich and marked by orange and preserved fruit notes. Once in the glass it develops an herbaceous note
Palate: Fine and unctuous, transitioning from fruitiness to slightly smoky malt, barley and honey
Finish: Long, developing malty and floral notes. Remarkably balanced and very fresh

Pure Malt Black
Nose: Full, yet refined with spice, peach and citrus evolving on smoke and dark chocolate
Palate: Lively with intense spice and sweet plum jam to balance. Liquorice notes slowly give way to the bitterness of the peat
Finish: Long with revealing notes of honey and sweet spices. A pleasant vegetal finish leads to subtle ash flavours

Pure Malt White
Nose: Elegant and fresh, revealing a peated, ash and medicinal character. Develops with finesse into exotic fruits, violet and praline
Palate: Raw and suave, it dances from smoked malt barley to honey, developing herbal notes, peat fire and liquorice
Finish: Long and lingering, revealing notes of violet, lily and smoked malt barley. Concluding with medicinal notes

Tokkuri - 150ml bottle

Sake or 'Nihonshu' is a unique type of traditional Japanese fermented alcohol made from rice. To start the fermentation process, sake is milled down until mostly only starch remains. The percentage of rice milling is one of the most important parameters used to rank sake in four major categories such as Honjozo, Junmai, Ginjyo and Daiginjyo. The Sake Meter Value or SMV assists in evaluating whether the sake is a sweeter or dryer style where + indicates the dryer styles and - indicates the sweeter styles. The alcohol by volume or ABV for sakes generally ranges from 14% to 17%

Kameman Shuzo	Junmai Genmai, Kumamoto, 100%, SMV -20, acidity 2.1, ABV 15%. Powerful aromas of honey, nuts and dried fruits combine with christmas cake and brown sugar flavours in this organic savoury brown rice sake 32.0
Bishonen	Junmai, Hyogo, milled to 75%, SMV 0, acidity 1.7, ABV 15% Made from Reiho rice this sake has a savoury aroma and a long, spicy finish which gives a powerful impression 12.0
Mukai Shuzo	Junmai Genshu, Kyoto, milled to 70%, SMV -18, acidity 6.1, ABV 14.1% An ancient variety of red rice is used to create rose-coloured Ine Mankai. High levels of acidity and sweetness are present while honey, vanilla and bitter sweet cherry flavours are all displayed 35.0

Kidoizumi Shuzo 'AFS'	Junmai Yamahai, Chiba, milled to 65%, SMV -30, ABV 13.5% Kidoizumi Shuzo have been brewing sake since 1879 & are famous for their exclusive brewing methods that result in unique, full bodied, complex sake. This particular sake is produced with a unique 'one- stage' fermentation, this gives it a much higher tart acidity, green apple aroma and a delicate sweetness 22.0
Jyozen Mizuno- gotoshi	Ginjyo, Niigata, milled to 60%, SMV +3, acidity 1.4, ABV 15.5% A medium dry style with modest floral and fruity aromas balanced with a long, savoury finish 18.0
Chiyo Shuzo	Moromi Nigori, Ishikawa, milled to 60%, SMV +4, acidity 1.9, ABV 16% Very small production and constantly sought after because of their quality & limited availability. The Moromi Nigori is directly bottled from the tank, only given a very coarse filter, and thus contains fermentation sediment. It has very fragrant notes of melon, the palate is dry and textural with the slightest hint of spritz. A wonderful aperitif 31.0

Presenting a delicate Ginjo aroma of apples and roasted nuts, it is followed by a smooth and fine mouthfeel, with clean aftertaste and a strong reverent finish 40.0
